

Since my family has signed up for the do not call list our lives have been less stressful. My husband and I feared when the phone would ring that it was a telemarketer bothering us for something we had no interest in. If I want a product I will go to the store and purchase it, we do not want some pesky pushy person on the phone hard selling us whatever the call is for. And how many of these calls are thieves stealing our money on false sales. I do not want to be bothered by these people, please keep the do not call list active. Thank you very much.
